

INHS Newsletter – July 2020

Dear INHS friends and colleagues,

As we enter the next phase of the Covid-19 pandemic, some of us are now able to see our friends and family for the first time in months. Others are still in a phase of uncertainty, others still under lockdown, and others in places experiencing a second wave of the virus, returning to lockdown and other restrictions. Wherever you are, we hope that you are safe.

As we come to the end of Pride month, we send a message of solidarity to our LGBT friends. In particular, we send a message of support to our Trans friends – at the INHS, we are unequivocally of the view that trans rights are human rights. As ever, our solidarity is also with the Black Lives Matter Protests, which we support. We are also deeply concerned about reports from China regarding the Uighur community.

We now live in a changed world, and at the INHS, our work continues, though sometimes in different ways. Change is not all bad though! The shift to online webinars gives us opportunities to be part of events that, pre-covid, would have been geographically impossible to attend for many. An example of this is the Birmingham City University/INHS webinar series, details of which are set out below. We are now in planning mode for the INHS Annual Conference which as you know will be held online in December in association with the OSCE/ODIHR, and will send further details of that in due course.

As always, our newsletter provides a monthly snapshot of international publications that have recently been added to the INHS library, as well as information about upcoming events occurring this month. We would also like to encourage you to get in contact with us if you would like to submit a contribution to our INHS blog. All blogs can be found here.

In the meantime, take care, and stay safe.

Best wishes,

The INHS Team
